to me, Tatuk, Mochamad

Dear Authors,

We have reached a decision regarding your submission to Plant Science Today, "Utilization of Urban Waste as Liquid Organic Fertilizer for Vegetable Crops in Urban Farming system".

Ms. Ref. No.: PST#2028

Our decision is to: Resubmit after revision

Please incorporate the corrections made by the reviewers into the manuscript (the changes should be highlighted) and send back the edited MS Word file as soon as possible (login to view reviewer edited files if any). Besides the revised manuscript, you need to upload another file with detailed action taken on the reviewers' comments. It can be in a table format, for example, wherein in the first column you may list the comments received from the reviewers, in the second column, you may write the action taken for the comments and in the third column, you must mention whether you have incorporated the changes in the revised manuscript, one by one. The revisions not submitted following the above guideline WILL NOT be accepted.

The authors are expected to respond to all the reviewer comments, even if it is not acceptable so that it will be easy for the sectional editors to track the changes and responses. Resubmissions without properly addressing the comments and corrections may result in the rejection of the manuscript, as the journal respect the efforts of editors and reviewers to make a submission promising.

The revised files can be uploaded to the journal website or send to the PST office by email.

Warm regards

Athira

Reviewer B:
Recommendation: Revisions Required

Reviewer C:
Recommendation: Accept Submission

Reviewer D:

1. In introduction- write the importance of LOF in general.
2. Write the process in details with reference if available in "LOF chemical analysis".
3. In conclusion portion mention use of which one is the best practice among P0-P6.
4. It will be better if you represent data in table 1 to 7 as mean \pm S.E.
5. Check PST reference format and do accordingly.
